Erica Joy Alduino

Neo-Nazi Organizer

This article is republished, with permission, from Asheville Anti Racism.

Erica Joy Alduino is a longstanding and active, organizing member of Identity Evropa—a neo-nazi and white supremacist organization born out of a rebranding of the Nationalist Youth Front. Alduino goes by the username ‘Joy’ in the recently released discord server ironically dubbed "Nice Respectable People Group" (thanks Unicorn Riot!). Previously, Alduino went by the username ‘Erika’ as she heavily organized in the Charlottesville planning server "Charlottesville 2.0" along with in the "Vibrant Diversity" discord server.

Eli, Jason, and myself are still figuring out how to properly incorporate the alt-lite people into the server to keep you guys safe. We'll probably just close off certain channels to the alt-lite people to keep them alt-right only.

Well, several of the channels on here are unused as of now because we're still 2 months away from the event. The wanted/available channels will end up being helpful because people tend to RSVP very close to the event and end up failing to set up carpools and lodging in a timely manner.

I mainly just created the great lakes channel because from the last event, a lot of the great lakes people ended up meeting in a central location and carpooled together or met up for a convoy. Dixie and Northeast states are separated because many of us are very far apart from each other and/or we have a lot of people within our certain states who need their own channels.

^ that's basically why I made two generals. I knew just one would eventually get clogged up. It makes sense to have two so the alt-lite people can go talk about based black guys and Israel or whatever other cancer they talk about in the other one. As the event gets closer, things will get more coherent. But for right now, the server is alt-right only people, and we'll keep it secure once we start letting in plebs.

@everyone I made the channel <#321840769239613453> specifically for posting information about laws applicable to Virginia. If you're going to be demonstrating there, you need to follow the laws. If you're a Virginia native, please post all information you have on VA laws regarding conceal carry, self-defense, mask laws, etc.

We know that Erica has been a member of the Florida Identity Evropa chapter since at least April 2017, and over the following months organized and participated in various Nazi rallies across the state and beyond. From banner rallies crashing University events, to meet-ups between other self-identifying white nationalists, fascists, and "identitarians", to coordinated flyering and stickering of their fascist propaganda. Here is Erica is self-identifying as the woman holding the banner in this photo:

@Commander Davis (TWP) get me all information on this woman, please. I'll be reporting her to the police.

And if we take a page out of Emily Gornecski's short Twitter dox of Erica, and citing Megan Squire's –you can see the matching tattoos across her chest in this photo from a news article she contributed her opinions to:

Erica Alduino, 25, from Florida, whose Twitter profile describes her as an alt-right American nationalist, explains: "Most third-wave feminists I do come into contact with seem like incredibly privileged women who really don't have a hell of a lot of problems in their life."

"The biggest problem I have with third-wave feminists is that 21st Century American women are possibly the most privileged and well treated women since the beginning of human existence, and they act like they are simply victims."

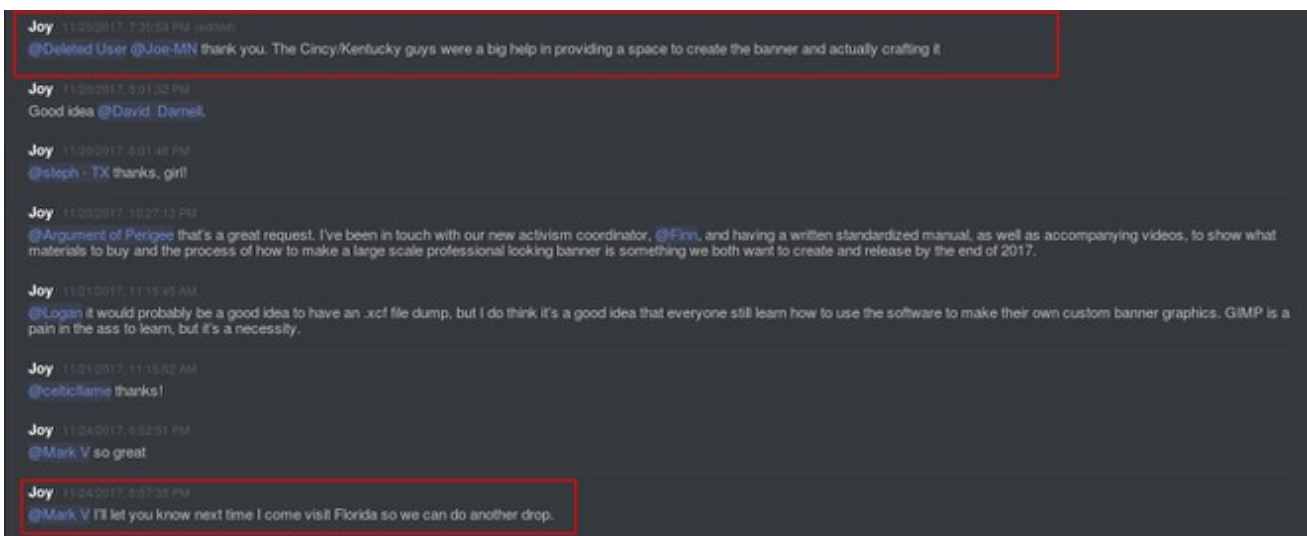

"These feminists should be rallying around women in other countries of the world where they're treated like second-class citizens. Third-wave feminists have nothing to say about the plights of these downtrodden women and are only concerned with their selfish and misguided needs."

Avid Trump supporter Harper Wendt, 18, echoes Yiannopoulos' sentiments that modern feminism seeks to emasculate men and feels Trump's 'brash to everyone' persona makes him a perfect partner to the movement.

Erica believes Feminism is a hand-in-hand (Erica Alduino) And even again in the IBTimes: ibtimes.co.uk/generation-tru...

It turns out that Erica Joy Alduino moved out of Florida shortly after the Unite The Right rally of August 2017, and by September of that year was much closer to the Kentucky and Ohio chapters of IE- as evidenced in these posts:

Something to note about Alduino is that she clearly likes to change/mask her outward appearance both for her public Nazi activities and in her free time. Erica has been seen donning wigs and changing both her hair color and style, though naturally she has dark brown hair. If you take looks at the many photographs she is in, you'll notice the trend. That is why we note the clear tattoos across her chest and right shoulder as being the most clear identifiers if you happen across Alduino.

This video deserves a big huge fat thumbs down

Proof that even blacks on the right side of the bell curve can't engage in abstract thought. It's annoying. I've agreed with a lot of her videos in the past.

I don't know which is worse. Joining the army or having a crush on a fag kike.

On the Charlottesville server, Erica Joy Alduino speaks openly about their deep involvement in the operation of the server-which acted as a significant organizing platform for hundreds of Nazis and violent white supremacists to attend the deadly Unite The Right rally. Alduino posts hundreds of messages in the server, helping coordinate lodging, rides up from Florida for her fellow Florida Identity Evropa members, along with the usual disgusting racist, homophobic, and antisemitic vitriol. It's no stretch to say that Erica Joy Alduino's facilitation of organizing, and coordination for, the Charlottesville rally was substantial. And any substantial organizing for nazis, fascists, and white supremacists – let alone for a rally to build a coalition between these disgusting and dangerous radical positions – is an act that won't go without repercussions.

Alduino has participated in a number of "activism" actions with Identity Evropa over the past three years. One particularly disgusting example is Identity Evropa rallying outside of the Pulse nightclub after the deadly homophobic mass shooting that took place there. What this all culminates to is this: Erica joy Alduino is a key organizer and participant with a neo-nazi organization... don't given her an inch.
